

Fun Facts

- Organic farming is friendly to our planet and good for all the living things on it This is often described as biodiversity.
- Some of the world's largest pumpkins can be viewed during harvest time at the annual Ryan Norlan Great Pumpkin Weigh-Off in Anamosa, Iowa. The prize winning pumpkin is featured in a parade.
- American farmers grow an average of 2.3 billion bushels of corn per year.
- The World Food Prize award goes to the person who increases the quality, quantity or availability of food in the world.
- There are sixty to eighty pods on a soybean plant.
- Many people grow organic gardens at home.

